I love Philip Keveren's classical Disney collections! I have my master's degree in piano performance, and I teach piano lessons, and my advanced students enjoy these books greatly. The biggest hit in this book in my studio is the theme song from Ratatouille!! Several students have requested it. I like to assign a piece from this book alongside a piece that matches it's style. For example, the theme song from Ratatouille is styled after a Chopin selection, so I like to assign the same (or a similar) piece along with it. This gives my students a lot of variety while still educating. By popular demand, here are more Disney songs expertly arranged by Phillip Keveren within a classical context. Product Identifiers. Publisher. I like this book very much. First, the selections are well-known from Disney movies. Second, they are arranged to be pieces played as a solo. I first heard them when visiting the Medical Center in Hershey, PA and heard the arrangement of "Feed the Birds." A woman was playing a beautiful grand piano in the lobby. I had to have the book and found it on E-bay.
