Arranging books by color is one of the most popular ways to decorate with books. In the photo above, books are used to create a beautiful rainbow of design. Using this method adds pretty pops of color to the room, creating an interesting sense of visual contrast, as well as a touch of playfulness. You can achieve this look using compartmentalized shelving, or, try arranging books by color across one long shelf, creating a linear rainbow of hues.Â Use your imagination: floating shelving works over doorways, under stair spacesâ€”practically anywhere else you have some empty wall space. Think outside the bookcase. No one says you need to stick to shelving when decorating with books.
