

Organizing in the Depression South: A Communist's Memoir MEP Publications, 2001

9780930656737 2001 James S. Allen 145 pages

Similar books and articles. "We Are Illegal Here": The Communist Party, Self-Determination and the Alabama Share Croppers Union. Writing South African Communist History. Allison Drew - 1997 - Science and Society 61 (1):107 - 113. Lessons From a Memoir. Kevin McGovern - 2009 - Chisholm Health Ethics Bulletin 15 (1):9. Presentation by the South African Communist Party. Essad Pahad - 1993 - Nature, Society, and Thought 6 (1):105-112. "A Fire in the Blood": Metaphors of Bipolar Disorder in Jamison's An Unquiet Mind. Organizing Race. Vincent Lloyd - 2014 - Journal of Religious Ethics 42 (4):640-660. Depression in an Evolutionary Context. Lewis Wolpert - 2008 - Philosophy, Ethics, and Humanities in Medicine 3:8-. Analytics. Three books about my administration add information to my own narrative. They are The Hoover Administration, by William Starr Myers and Walter H. Newton (Charles Scribner's Sons, New York, 1936), The Hoover Policies, by Ray Lyman Wilbur and Arthur M. Hyde (Charles Scribner's Sons, New York, 1937); The Foreign Policies of Herbert Hoover, 1929-1933, by William Starr Myers (Charles Scribner's Sons, New York, 1940). In the ensuing period, also of fourteen years, I succeeded in reaching fairly deep unpopularity in consequence of the depression, fighting the New Deal, opposing World War II and its subsequent political policies. But after this second term of fourteen years some people began to think I had been right, and life was more complimentary. Start by marking "Organizing in the Depression South: A Communist's Memoir" as Want to Read: Want to Read saving; Want to Read. James S. "Jim" Allen, born Sol Auerbach was an American Marxist historian, journalist, editor, activist, and functionary of the Communist Party USA. James S. "Jim" Allen, born Sol Auerbach was an American Marxist historian, journalist, editor, activist, and functionary of the Communist Party USA. ...more. Books by James S. Allen. More! 21 November 2008. Communist Organizing in the Jim Crow South. What's Not in The Great Debaters. By Don Cane and Jacob Zorn. By the Depression, with the South sinking further and further into misery, the ruling class as a whole was desperate to modernize this decrepit system, which could only be done under capitalism through the immiseration of untold numbers of black and white rural toilers. The United States in the 1930s was an advanced industrialized capitalist country with a powerful working class. By the Depression, textile, iron, coal, steel and chemical industries were developing in the South. (This is described in the recent book by Robert Whitaker, On the Laps of Gods: The Red Summer of 1919 and the Struggle for Justice That Remade a Nation [2008].)