ISSUE/TOPIC	DISCUSSION	ACTION/FINDINGS
Welcome and Introductions	Susan Lacombe called the meeting to order at 1:32pm. There were no corrections to the minutes.	Minutes were approved
LAUSD Presentation- “A piece of the Puzzle: Asthma in LAUSD Schools”	Presentation by Susan Lacombe and Staff from the LAUSD Asthma Program. Highlights from the presentation: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • LAUSD Nursing Services Asthma Program is mostly grant funded to conduct asthma work throughout the district • Asthma is the number one cause of school absenteeism due to a chronic disease • 63,000 kids with asthma in the district • Tools for schools program: grant with EPA to work with EHS program to address indoor air quality and how poor IAQ affects our health. Teach staff that daily practices impact the indoor air. Some of the topics covered with teachers are: cleaning supplies, mold, animals in the classroom, blocked supply registers, thermostat interference, air filters, and outside sources • Through the Tools for Schools program easy things are fixed, priorities are determined, lines of communication are opened, and there is more awareness of asthma triggers and hazards • In Home Asthma Project is a case management program for high risk students. Asthma nurses coordinate with school nurses and other school staff. Focus on students with uncontrolled asthma, chronically absent, ER visits, recent hospitalization. Help to identify and mitigate asthma triggers in the home. Nurses teach the 2 types of medications and how to use them and how useful a spacer and asthma action plan can be. They also teach about the link between asthma and obesity and link children to the Breathmobile when appropriate. Typically more males are seen, between ages 6-11 and primarily Hispanic. Data shows that they are achieving their goal of controlling asthma. • Asthma educational component is called Open Airways for Schools (for kids in elementary/middle school). Tools such as books and videos are utilized to teach self-management skills to asthmatic children. Staff work with PE teachers in the district to teach them about asthma and what to do in an emergency situation. • Contact information for the LAUSD Asthma Program is (213) 765-2800
Strategic Plan Update	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Arcela from the National Latino Research Center presented preliminary results of the online self-assessment survey • Arcela is funded through Community Action to Fight Asthma (CAFA) to provide strategic planning support to the Coalition. The Coalition is a member of CAFA • 33 responses total were received which is a good representation of the coalition • The survey had 14 sections: role in coalition, membership, decision-making process, structure, trust & networking, mission/values, participation, knowledge of asthma, indoor triggers, outdoor air pollution, asthma in schools, coalition sustainability, advocacy & systems

LA County is the most populous county in the country, with a growing population of over 10 million people, most of whom are people of color. According to the American Civil Liberties Union, it is home to the nation's largest jail population, with a daily average of 22,000 inmates. The coalition met with health officials, supervisors, and the sheriff's department. It also sought to bring people directly impacted together to understand what the county was planning to do with their loved ones inside, including during the Mother's Day event. Mayors in Los Angeles, Atlanta and nine other U.S. cities said Monday they will work to launch universal basic income pilot programs, a growing sign that political leaders are beginning to take the idea of guaranteed income seriously in the wake of the pandemic. Mayors for a Guaranteed Income was founded by Stockton, California, Mayor Michael Tubbs. Though the coalition will advocate collectively for a guaranteed income and share information, each city will launch their own pilot with separate funding streams, either by creating a working group to find room in the city budget or by forming public/private partnerships, Tubbs told Forbes.
