A Vision for the Millennium is a compilation of excerpts from Rudolf Steiner's many books and lectures which provides an excellent introduction to his spiritual millennial vision. It includes commentary on the significance of the millennium, the necessary transformation of all areas of practical life, the importance of spiritual ecology, the transfiguration of the earth, and the roles of angelic and other spiritual entities in our time. Could it not Movingly rendered, The Book of the Vision Quest is for all who long for renewal and personal transformation. In this revised edition"with two new chapters and added tales from vision questers"Steven Foster recounts his experiences guiding contemporary seekers. He recreates an ancient rite of passage"that of "dying, passing through, and being reborn"known as a vision quest. Requests for the book have also come from Germany, Sweden, the Netherlands, South Africa, Zambia, Mexico, Honduras, New Zealand, Australia, England, and Wales. The interest of diverse peoples suggests the relevance of passage rites such as the vision quest to diverse cultures. This relevance is not surprising. The archetype is a prominent feature of the human collective unconscious. To begin, the words 'imagination' and 'vision' can often be found together. Imagination is linked to the vision-making work of leadership and to visionary leadersleaders are seen to use their imaginations to identify what is changing in their contexts or what needs to change, and employ imagination to articulate a new reality (see, for example, Ciulla, 2015;Maxwell, 1999;Miller & Miller, 2001;Paustian, 2017;Ylimaki, 2006). Paustian (2017) notes: Imagination is a fundamental trait of an effective leader, both of others and ourselves. (p. 81) In line with visi...
